Long-Awaited 17-Act Revue Is Underway

'53 Kapers Blends Farce, Singing and Dancing Into Hilarious Harmony

Kampus Kapers, State's fifth annual all-campus musical revue, romped and cavorted in its shiny '53 trimmings last night with flourishes of farce, song, and ballet. The show will continue tonight and tomorrow night and again next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights, April 23, 24, and 25, in Frederic Burk auditorium.

Tickets for the production are currently on sale at the Drama Box-office, AA 11. Admission is 60 cents for students; 90 cents, general.

17-SCENE PRODUCTION

Leading ensemble numbers in the 17-scene production include a lively opening rocket ship sequence entitled "Shooting for the Stars"; "New Orleans," a lavish song and dance number, and "Happy Go Lucky Day," a scintillating circus finale that includes acrobats, a singing strong man, a ventriloquist act with a clever new twist, and a prancing equestrienne caracole dance number.

Novelty numbers, ranging from pure nonsense to zany parody, include "Angel-Gas," a skit in the old melodramatic style, "Livin' in a Woman's World," a biting satire on the role of the Twentieth Century male, and "Dawn and Twilight of Man," an insane frolic through the caves of pre-history cavemen.

A SCHIZOPHRENIC BALLET

A Schizophrenic Ballet" promises to be a high point of the show, employing State's top dancing and choreographic talent.

Other song and dance numbers are "It's Fun to Fall in Love," "A Social Wreck," "What the Iron Curtain Has Done to Me," "Death of a Streetcar," and a "Down to Earth" finale.

The production has been under the direction of Jules Irving, Aldo Casanova is art director; Robert Segrin, lighting; Jean White, costumes; William Swettman, orchestra director, and Jean Bertram, publicity director.

Today's Model U.N. Introduces Surprise Issue

The Model United Nations continues today and tomorrow morning at the University of California with S.F. State taking the role of the Pakistan delegation.

Today's session will include the introduction of the surprise issue in the General Assembly—the feature event of the annual meeting.

Last year the surprise issue was the sudden announcement that the Chinese Communists had invaded Viet Nam. The Assembly meeting broke up, and the Security Council met in emergency session until 2 a.m., when they gave up and returned the issue to the General Assembly for Saturday morning session.

It is expected that a similar procedure will be followed this year.

The General Assembly meeting today is scheduled for 1 to 5 p.m. in Wheeler auditorium, with the Security Council meeting to begin about 7 p.m. in Eshleman hall or Stephen's Union.

The Security Council meets again from 8 to 9:30 a.m. Saturday morning, and the Assembly meets for the final event of the conference from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

In 1931 the State footballers held their opponents to 38 points in a nine game schedule.

Harry Partch Speaks Here Wednesday

By JAMES KEOLKER

Harry Partch, noted composer-musician and creator of the 43 tone scale, will lecture Wednesday, April 22, in Frederic Burk auditorium. The two one-hour lectures, sponsored by the Humanities division, will be presented from 11 a.m. to 12 p.m. and 12 p.m. to 1 p.m.

"The Human Ear: It's Ignored Capacities" will be the first hour lecture topic, designed primarily for music students. Mr. Partch will discuss the ear as "the only rational basis for evaluating new musical material' and demonstrate the acoustic scales, chords, and tonal patterns of various musical instruments he has created.

"SERIOUS MUSIC"

The second lecture, more general in nature, will be devoted to "The American Culture: Its New Music Potentialities." This will consist of a brief philosophic survey of the contemporary segregation of less "serious" from "serious" music, of apparent musical needs, and suggestions for filling these needs.

Mr. Partch's development of the 43-tone scale has been labeled a call for "corporeal" as opposed to "abstract" music. "Corporeal" is considered as music that grows from the spoken word and immediacy of speech in dramatic or descriptive form, as opposed to "abstract" or general symphonic and operatic compositions. Forecasting the fair as the most outstanding in State's history, President Cec Riley said, "With this fair, we hope to provide ultra-entertainment for the students and create favorable public relations with our new neighbors in Stonestown."

The festivities will kick-off with a bonfire rally at the new campus on the evening of the 7th, when the State Fair Queen will be crowned.

Hal Grant Named Summer Editor of the Golden Gater

Hal Grant and Bob Horn have been appointed editor and managing editor, respectively, for the Golden Gater summer session, by the Board of Publications at a recent meeting.

Grant, a senior, has served on the Gater staff for three semesters and one summer session in the various capacities of reporter, co-news editor, sports editor, and feature editor. He received the award for outstanding feature writing in 1952.

Before transferring to S. F. State, Grant attended the City College of San Francisco, University of California, University of San Francisco, and the United States Military Academy at West Point.

Other summer session editorial appointments will be open to petition in May; the exact date will be announced in the Gater.

OFFICIAL COLLEGE NOTICES

All nursing students at San Francisco State College who have earned the R. N. and are taking additional training in nursing for teaching or for higher degrees must take the Graduate Nurse Examinations. To take these examinations each student must obtain an application card and send it with her fee of $4.00 to the National League of Nursing. Application cards may be obtained from Mrs. Ruth Murray in College Hall 105. These cards along with the $4.00 fee should be forwarded to the National League for Nursing. The National League for Nursing will then send each applicant a receipt to admit her to the examination.

The examinations will be given in the Testing Room located in the new Administration Building on our New Campus. Each student will report for two of the following three sessions: 9-12; 1 to 4 p.m.; 7-10 p.m.

Did you know that State musicians get jobs once in a while? You didn't? It seems that State turns out some of the better musicians in the land.

Right now we have fellows working for Billy May, Les Brown, George Shearing, and Stan Kenton, to name a few. George Shearing, our most recent guest, brought back with him Cal Tjader, who plays vibes, who not so long ago was a young man on our campus.

Another musician who recently left our ranks is Dave Kreidt, who has had three tunes he arranged accepted by Stan Kenton. Dave also reports that he may join the Kenton band in the near future; Dave plays tenor.

Things are just starting for "The Pastels." The Pastels is a trio made up of clarinet or tenor, accordian, drums or vibes, and vocals. The group opened at the Rendezvous club, April 8. The Pastels is lead by Pete Dovidio, who plays one of the prettiest clarinets on the Pacific coast, bar none. They will appear at the Rendezvous on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights, from 9 to 2 a.m.; Sunday afternoon jam session 4 to 9 p.m.

Is there anyone looking for a Dixieland jazz band, or maybe you know someone who is? I know of one that's available for almost any job.

Paul Naden's jazz band which consists of four to six pieces, union rates, and they play danceable, Chicago Style jazz. Drop into see Paul, an ex-Stater, at 1279 Waller or call HE. 1-6092.

Profs Lecture to Background of Music of First Robin's Voice

By ROBERT HORN

The first robin, the age old indication of springtime, has been replaced at San Francisco State by the First Outdoor Class. This vernal equinoxian behavior may be seen on almost any of the rare days in which San Francisco enjoys beautiful weather.

A familiar sight is the cluster of students in the Rally Bowl at the old campus, while a shouting professor tries to make himself heard above the noise of coffee drinkers.

ON A SUNNY DAY

This sunny day display usually begins when a group of claustrophobian students "con" their instructor into enjoying the warmth of the sun while supervising the process of learning.

As soon as a class is established outside, the unsuspecting professor is subjected to every manner of distraction known to man and teacher.

He soon finds that there are strange faces in the class belonging to unconcerned kibitzers eating their lunches. During the course of the lecture they frequently sneer at the instructor, mentally saying, "I already know this stuff, had the course last year," whereupon they nudge the nearest victim and inform him of the fact.

OPEN-MOUTHED WONDER

The "gapers" soon begin to file by the outdoor lecture hall and stand with open mouths, staring with wonder at that crazy man yelling at all of those people.

All of this may be endured by the patient faculty member, but the straw that breaks his back is the student in the class who recognizes his girl passing and is unable to suppress his emotions. He yells, "Hey Suzy, come on over, we're having class outside today."

At this point a couple of the usual "back row boys" get up and stroll over to the snack bar for a cup of coffee to sustain themselves throughout the rest of the lecture.

Yes, spring is here. I know because one of my instructors told me.

McCarthy Assumes A Foreign Policy Position of Leadership

By CLAUDE CROWNOVER

Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin announced Monday, March 30, that he and his investigating subcommittee had reached an agreement with Greek shipowners that no further trade would henceforth be carried out with Soviet-bloc nations.

We, as students, should understand the significance to us of the Senator's actions.

Without any permission from either the State Department or the Chief Executive, McCarthy took it upon himself to help solve a ticklish problem of foreign policy.

PRESIDENT'S POWERS

Under our Constitution, the President was given the power of setting forth foreign policy for the nation.

Since his policy was impossible to accomplish single-handed, the President created the State Department to represent him.

Rarely in our history has any individual or individuals in the Legislative or Judicial branches endeavored to usurp the power of the Executive Branch.

We might assume that McCarthy may consider himself qualified to dominate all parts of our life, including the education of youth.

Whatever the intentions of Senator McCarthy may have been in trying to resolve a vital issue, he infringed upon the Executive branch of the government. A Senator's power is limited by our Constitution to the legislative branch.

NO CENSURE

Although a Senator had broadly overstepped his authority, and meddled in the Administration's efforts to deal with the Red trade problem, he was not censured by the President.

Presidential appointee John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, however, did warn Senator McCarthy of the dangers of interfering in foreign affairs.

This insipid response to an assault on one of our basic institutions is alarming. By his actions, Senator McCarthy has completely disregarded the separation of powers incorporated within the framework of the Constitution.

GRAVE ISSUES

If this usurpation is to be weakly censured, what is to prevent a further overstepping of Executive power by the same or other individuals? Certainly, the President should be aware of the grave issues involved in this

Boiler Room Letters

Editor, the Golden Gater:

I feel that a statement from me is forthcoming, in view of the fact that I have heard some comment concerning my position in the recent political campaign. I do not feel that the Presidency of the Associated Students is a joking matter. My candidacy for this office, contrary to certain expressed opinions, was based upon my desire to serve the Associated Students, as I have done previously in my positions as Sophomore class President, President of the Block S, and Treasurer of the Associated Students.

(Contributions to the Boiler Room are welcome if signed. The Golden Gater reserves the right to edit any article over 200 words.—The Editor.)

My candidacy for this office was certainly feasible, since I will be at State for an additional year, doing post graduate work. However, certain conditions arose after my petition was signed, which changed by perspective.

When I became aware of the fact that Jack Anderson, a personal friend . . . was also running, I felt that I would favor support of him. I did not, however, turn in my petition and file a formal letter of withdrawal which would appear on the front page of the Golden Gater and could be interpreted as a political contrivance.

Those who are so free to comment should take the pains to find out that I, personally, do not consider this campaign a joke.

critical period.

With the free nations of the world looking to us for leadership, such an event, within our own nation, of the elective rights of the peoples' leader cannot be condoned, but severely reprimanded.

Our freedom is strengthened by the separation of powers incorporated within our Constitution.

But with unqualified elements assuming control of more of our way of life, we, as students, can never feel sure that our educational freedom will not be impaired.

The actions of those individuals who would try to break down one of our basic pillars of democratic strength should not be allowed to remain unnoticed and uncensured.

tions striving toward the corporeal goal include works of Gluck, Berlioz, Moussorgsky, and Virgil Thomson.

This whole system of intonation has been analyzed by Partch in his recent (1949) book, "Genesis of A Music," or, in Partch's own sound jargon, "Monophony."

A MARIMBA EROICA

Among the instruments created by Partch for the actual production of his monophonic works are the Adapted Viola, Guitar, and Marimba Eroica. Mr. Partch will illustrate his lectures with the Bass Marimba, Chromelodeon, Kithara, Diamond Marimba, and a twin Harmonic Canon. Each of the instruments has been designed and constructed by Partch.

Partch's talents lie not only in new instruments, however, but in the artistic application of his musical theories. Ignoring the traditional terminology of octave, major, and minor, Partch has devised new words to fit his accoustical theories. Such terms as numerary, nexus, odenity, otonality, and polypythogorean are examples.

"A REVOLUTIONARY"

Perhaps Partch and his works can best be explained by one of his many critics who view this new master as a "revolutionary in the evolution of sound." Charles Warren Fox of "Musician's Notes" magazine, has stated, "Partch's ideal is one voice, one instrument: a manner of impressing the intangible beauty of tone into the vital power of the spoken word—without impairing each." It is thus easy to see that music is no mere dessicated set of numbers to Partch, but a real, living, promising entity.

Prof. Jordan Churchill, of the Humanities division, has stated the case clearly and emphatically, "Harry Partch is a true genius—and he is coming to lecture at State. That is enough. That is plenty."

Music Fed Elects Cook Pres. in Special Ballot

One of the largest election turnouts in the history of the Music Federation was staged at the Fed's special election on Wednesday, March 25.

Better than 60 per cent of the Music Fed members cast ballots in the election as the supposed "deathbed" organization took another healthy step in its road to recovery.

BILL COOK PRESIDENT

Bill Cook won the presidential post in the Fed, while "Veep" is Paul Goodwin. The rest of the Board of Directors, according to the final tally, consists of Jim Sharpen, treasurer; June White, secretary; and Dale Alstrom, the member-at-large.

Every office was contested and it was pointed out that the defeated candidates were not actual losers at all, because they have been chosen to head the various appointed committees and offices.

The election wasn't all that was brewing down in Music Alley.

The Fed is sponsoring a booth at the State Fair in addition to running Margy Barta, their choice for State Fair queen.

President Bill Cook's first announcement was that there will be three student recitals in the near future. Dates for the recitals are Tuesdays, April 14 and 28, and May 12, in AB9 at 1 p.m. These recitals will consist of a varied program featuring both instrumental and vocal representatives.

Cook also announced that the Fed will handle ushering at civic concerts and operas, all on-campus publicity for the Music Department, and a tutoring service for students.—By Sonny Mitchell

State Students Participate In T.V. Production

Video addicts recently got a student's eye-view of San Francisco State, via KRON-TV, and some of our faculty members and students. The production was under the auspices of the Bay Area Television Educational Council, with Ed Dolan, a State graduate, acting as moderator.

Dean Alan Johnson, and three students, Cec Riley, Evie Benson, and Adele Armando were the principle performers on the 15 minute show.

The production, designed primarily to give potential students and the general public an idea of the student life at State, was filmed and will later be shown to high schools and colleges throughout the Bay Area.

Dean Johnson led off by telling of the entrance and academic requirements of the college. He also presented a short resume of the various divisions of the school.

Adele Armando introduced a number of questions which were answered by Cec Riley and Evie Benson concerning the social life which students might expect at State. They outlined fraternities and sororities service groups and honorary societies at State.

Miss Benson afterwards answered an inevitable question with, "No, I wasn't scared at all, although I had expected to be." She added that the program went very smoothly without any of the "flubs" which might be expected.

Hornets Slaughtered; Trackmen Go to Reno

By HERB COLTON

In a track meet marked by impressive times and marred by injuries, the San Francisco State college trackmen overwhelmed a weak Sacramento State college in a cinderfest last Saturday afternoon on the Cox stadium oval, 103½ to 27½.

Coach Ray Kaufman will herd his charges aboard a bus today at noon to journey to Reno for a meet on the morrow with the University of Nevada.

SHETTLER BREAKS RECORD

A new school record was chalked up by Jim Shettler in the one mile run. Up until this year Jim had been pointing toward the two mile mark. But after running consistently under 4:35 in the meets thus far, Jim set his sights on the old mile record of 4.31 set by Fred Kline way back in 1936. Winning in 4:30.5, the lathy blond distance ace ran all alone. With a little pacing Shettler could easily go the route in 4:25.

Another impressive time, though not record making, was registered by Vic Gipson in the quartermile. Gipson, filling in for an ailing Bob Lualhati, turned the lap in 50.5.

ANDERSON SURPRISES

Herb Anderson, to the surprise of everyone, got off a throw of 130 ft. 2 in. to win the discus!

The edge was taken off of the victory when Len Posey, closing out his fourth year as a State sprinter, pulled up lame in the 220. Len pulled a muscle, thus ending his career as a Gator sprinter. After three years of recovering from an operation, Len finally found himself earlier in the day by winning the 100 over teammate Oreese Elmore in 10.1. Elmore won the 220 in 22.6.

Tennis Men Take St. Mary's, 8-1, Sacto State, 6-3

Winning five out of six matcher played this season, the Gator tennis squad racked up another pair of wins as they downed St. Mary's, 8-1, and overcame Sacramento State, 6-3, April 10 and 11.

Sacramento's team battled the S.F. State men right to the finish in a meet that was featured by a three-hour doubles match. The marathon doubles contest found S. F. State's Jim White and Stan Altshuler, a pair of Korean War veterans, downing Elton Rowe and Leighton Case, 1-6, 8-6, 20-18, leaving all parties, including the spectators, limp with exhaustion.

San Francisco State's tennis team continued to mow down competition as they ripped through the Cal Aggies last April 3, by a score that couldn't have been improved upon, 9-0.

Today the netmen journey to San Jose to meet the Spartans on their own ground.

Gators to Tangle With Treasure Island, USF Dons

San Francisco State's Gators face a relatively mild schedule this coming week.

Today they tangle with Treasure Island at 3:30 p.m. at T.I. Thursday they vie with the University of San Francisco Dons. The Dons, led by outfielder Joe Arenivar, could make it tough on the Gators, but if the Staters continue their good hitting and settle down afield, they should have no trouble in smacking down USF.

Thus far this season, the Gators have kept a solid stream of base hits flowing from their ever-productive bats, and, although their ace right-hander Joel Heckman kept the club going during the early part of the season with his brilliant pitching performances, Jerry Pandolfi has since found himself and has lent needed aid to the overworked Heckman.

'Lefty' Camozzi Throws a Six Hitter in City Game

Coach Dick Boyle found his third starting pitcher last March 31, as lefty Camozzi threw a six hitter at the City College nine, while his Gator teammates engaged in a nice batting practice session in smacking 11 hits and gaining a 12-3 victory.

Camozzi threw beautiful ball as he whiffed three and issued only one free pass. He also helped his own cause by collecting two base blows. Louie Rosso tallied three runs; Norm Harris and Bob LaCosta got two hits apiece.

S. F. State Baseballers Find Hitting Temporarily Halted, But Win Nightcap

State's ower-laden Golden Gators were stopped temporarily last March 28, as the Cal Aggies upset Joel Heckman in a 4-2 contest.

The Gator's powerful offense couldn't be held down all day, however, as they came back with a vengeance in the second game to dismantle the Aggies by the score of 10-1. Jerry Pandolfi threw a one hitter for the Gators in the second contest.

The leadoff game found Giant Joel Heckman getting touched for seven hits in the six innings he toiled. Of the four runs he allowed, only three were earned. Heckman continued to keep up his spectacular strike-out spree as he fanned 12 and walked only two.

The Gators managed only three hits, with Bob LaCosta getting two of them and Norm Harris blasting a homer to drive in the only two runs.

The Aggies found out that power can't be harnessed forever, as they were stunned in the second game with a combined 11-hit attack by the Gators.

Jerry Pandolfi, who has worked his way into a starting post behind Joel Heckman, copped several recent good efforts with his one hitter. The only run the Aggies scored was un-earned as Pandolfi held them ineffective for the seven innings he worked. Jerry struck out 10, and gave up five walks. Right fielder George Wehner led the hitting attack with three blows, as he drove in a run and tallied three.

Although the Friends Committee, sponsored by the Quakers, is in its first year, it is already working with the legislators, testifying before committees, and supplying information to other groups. The Friends Committee has a special membership for students.

An outline of the bills upon which the Friends are taking stands are:

Support for the Fair Employment Practices bill (AB 900), which will be brought before the legislature April 22. The F.E.P.C. bill is designed to eliminate discrimination in employment.

They are opposed to negative liberties bills, such as the Levering Act (AB 1796), and a bill introduced by Senator Kraft which provides for dismissal of teachers and college professors who even so much as consistently participate in meetings of Communist front or Communist action groups. This bill was passed by the Senate last week.

Also infringing upon our civil liberties, according to the F.C.L., is a proposed loyalty oath for all taxpayers (AB 923).
